

Merry Christmas...

...Peace on Earth, good will toward men

Season's greetings and best wishes for the new year from the Meiers! We have had a peaceful year spent largely at home, working on the garden and bush block, both doing contract work based at home, and watching the little ones grow up. Our trips away were brief, including camping trips at Washpool National Park (northern NSW) and Elanda Point, some work-related trips to Hervey Bay, and a trip to Bundaberg for Elizabeth's brother's birthday. Some of Peter's German relatives also visited for a few weeks, and the extended family took them to visit Noosa, Fraser Island and Stanthorpe. Felix finished kindy, and Myles learned to walk and say a few words. Here are some shots taken during the year...

L-R: Myles using an exhibit at the Railway Workshops museum (we go often: the boys love it); Felix in cockpit during the Bundaberg air show; boys baking gingerbread biscuits.

L-R: Myles watering the garden and reading; Felix harvesting peas and filling plant pots; the scrub turkey that built its mound in our garden.
