Merry Christmas for 2021 and a Happy New Year!

What we did!

As with most people, we have enjoyed life closer to home this year, with border restrictions mostly preventing us from visiting our block south of the border. Our excursions have included a staycation in Brisbane in September while Felix attended an activity at QUT, an early Christmas catch up with family at Bargara, and regular weekends to Bundaberg during the year. The family joined up Parkrun where Felix gained his 10 and 25 run t-shirts, and we did a couple of charity fun runs as well.

Myles is in Middle School and did well with school work and long jump. He has continued doing weights and is often found downstairs exercising. He also has a good eye for photography.

Felix has finished his second last year of high school, featuring the semi-formal, inter-school cross-country carnival, undertaking a couple of undergraduate subjects, and getting his L-plates.

Peter has plenty of work on but eases the pressure by learning new songs on guitar and riding his e-bike around Mt Crosby. Elizabeth is exploring making mosaic pavers for the garden, and just became a team leader at CSIRO and is back in the office a couple of days a week.

Best wishes you a happy and holy Christmas and all the very best for the New Year.
